++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry by the afternoon but cloudy for most.

Today:
Showery rain lingers through the early morning, largely across the Pennines, before clearing by midday. A dry day follows, rather cloudy for most, with Cumbria seeing the best of any bright spells. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry tonight across the region with cloud gradually breaking apart, allowing for clear spells over some areas in the evening. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Monday:
Initially dry on Monday and largely cloudy, but then light rain moves southwards across the region during the afternoon. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
A chilly start on Tuesday but dry with periods of sunshine. Spells of rain are possible on Wednesday, and then further outbreaks of light rain on Thursday.
